10 Of The Most Inspiring Leaders Of All Time

The Evolution of Leadership Definitions

- 1900-1929 – Control and centralization of power
- 1930s – Trait (attribute/ feature) approach
- 1940s – Group approach
- 1950s – Group theory, shared goals, and effectiveness
- 1960s – Leadership as behavior
- 1970s – Organizational behavior

Conceptualizing Leadership

Some definitions view leadership as:

- The focus of group processes
- A personality perspective
- An act or behavior
- The power relationship between leaders & followers
- A transformational process
- A skills perspective

Leadership Defined

Leadership

a process whereby an individual influences a group of individuals to achieve a common goal.

Example

Trait vs. Process Leadership

- Certain individuals have special inborn characteristics or qualities that differentiate them from nonleaders.

Trait Approach

Early 20th century - leadership traits were studied

The theories that were developed were called “great man” theories

They focused on identifying the innate qualities and characteristics possessed by great social, political, and military leaders (e.g., Catherine the Great, Mohandas Gandhi, Indira Gandhi, Abraham Lincoln and Napoleon).

It was believed that people were born with these traits, and that only the “great” people possessed them.

“He is born to be a leader”

Example

Process Approach

Leadership is a phenomenon that resides in the context of the interactions between leaders and followers.

It makes leadership available to everyone.

As a process, leadership can be observed in leader behaviors (Jago, 1982), and can be learned.

Assigned vs. Emergent Leadership

Assigned

- Leadership based on occupying a position within an organization
 - Team leaders
 - Plant managers
 - Department heads
 - Directors

Emergent

- An individual perceived by others as the most influential member of a group or organization regardless of the individual's title
 - Emerges over time through communication behaviors
 - Verbal involvement
 - Being informed
 - Seeking others' opinions
 - Affected by personality and gender

Example - Assigned Leader

Example – Emergent leader

Leadership & Power

Power

- The capacity or potential to influence.
- Ability to affect others' beliefs, attitudes, & actions

Bases of Social Power

- Expert
- Legitimate (sincere)
- Reward
- Coercive (powerful)
- Information

French & Raven (1959), Raven (1965)

Group Task – 10-15 Minutes

- See Table 1-1
- Choose one
- Discuss in your group
- Find relevant examples
- Assign a team leader
- The team leader will have to summarize the group discussion
- 2-3 Minutes (each group leader)

Table 1.1 Six Bases of Power

Referent Power	Based on followers' identification and liking for the leader. A teacher who is adored by students has referent power.
Expert Power	Based on followers' perceptions of the leader's competence. A tour guide who is knowledgeable about a foreign country has expert power.
Legitimate Power	Associated with having status or formal job authority. A judge who administers sentences in the courtroom exhibits legitimate power.
Reward Power	Derived from having the capacity to provide rewards to others. A supervisor who gives rewards to employees who work hard is using reward power.
Coercive Power	Derived from having the capacity to penalize or punish others. A coach who sits players on the bench for being late to practice is using coercive power.
Information Power	Derived from possessing knowledge that others want or need. A boss who has information regarding new criteria to decide employee promotion eligibility has information power.

Leadership & Coercion

Coercion Involves

- Use of force to effect change
- Influencing others to do something by manipulating rewards and penalties in the work environment
- Use of threats & punishments

Examples of Coercive Leaders

- Adolf Hitler
- Jim Jones
- Taliban leaders

Shift in Leadership Power, Kellerman (2012)

- Power no longer the domain of leaders
- Followers demand more from leaders
- Access to technology has empowered followers
- Leaders are more transparent
- Leadership as social contract between leaders and followers
